

This is a species of Flatworms (Platyhelminthes) which are considered surface area specialists because of their ability to absorb nutrients extremely effectively across their “skin”

